Master of Fine Arts in Creative Writing Program

The Master of Fine Arts (MFA) degree will accept its first candidates for Fall 2012. The program replaces the current 32-credit Master of Arts in Writing (MAW). Several new courses have been added to the MFA program, while many of the staples of the MAW, which have made it so hugely successful, will remain including the popular Summer Writers' Week. The program will also feature a non-tracking curriculum, allowing students to take courses in many genres. One of the new courses, a "topics" class, will allow significant writers from the New York City area and elsewhere to come to campus to teach a semester class. The Master of Fine Arts is the terminal degree in the writing field. Graduates of the program will have the required degree to teach at the college and university level.

The MFA Program will host two events this fall, a new graduate faculty reading with Neela Vaswani, Elizabeth Eslami, and Camille Rankine on October 1, as well as, the first Meet the Writers event of the 2012-2013 year with Nick Flynn on November 7.

Manhattanville Receives VISIONS Grant

Manhattanville College, in partnership with VISIONS services for the Blind, has been awarded a five-year New York State grant to develop and implement a pre-college summer program for rising high school seniors with visual impairments. This five-week summer program will begin in Summer 2013 and will offer 25 students the opportunity to experience college life at Manhattanville as they consider their college readiness and future educational plans. This collaborative effort will include the Office of Disability Services, the Center for Academic Success, the Office of the Provost, and many departments on campus to welcome this exciting opportunity.

Facilities Update

In the past three years Manhattanville College has gone through many renovations and upgrades to "attract, involve, and transform students." Click here to see a slide show of the changes that have already and are currently taking place on campus.

Library Features New Additions for Students and Faculty

During the summer, the Library went through major renovations and is happy to open its door 24/7 again starting Monday, September 10. A new "Learning Commons", just past the library conference room, is now home to the Academic Resource Center, the Writing Center, Help Center, and the Office of Disability Services. All of the Library administrative office are now located on the Ground Floor Room 16.

Another addition to the Library is the Center for Teaching and Learning on the second floor. The Center will provide resources for faculty on ways to increase student engagement, as well as introduce new technologies to the classroom. Also on the second floor is a new ePortfolio lab and group study area.

Center for Career Development

The Center for Career Development (CCD) is starting a new Job Shadow program this fall. Open to all undergraduate students, the program will provide the opportunity to shadow an alumni or employer host for a day or week to learn about a career of interest. Participating companies include PepsiCo, 3M, MasterCard Worldwide, Ethan Allen Global, Inc., and Lawyers Without Borders.

The CCD is also hosting a Meet the Employers Series this fall that allows students to dine with an industry representative and learn how to network and make a good impression when meeting a prospective employer. The dinners will take place in the East Library in Reid Hall and will kick off with Marketing & Management on Tuesday, September 11.

The Counseling and Health Center

Two new clinical psychologists are joining the Counseling Center staff this fall, Dr. Danielle Meltzer and Dr. Ashley Knoll. Both Dr. Meltzer and Dr. Knoll have a wealth of counseling center experience and will make an excellent contribution to assisting students. The Health Center will offer Health 101 outreach program for freshmen students in September and flu shot day in October.

Community Service

The Duchesne Center for Religion and Social Justice announces a new initiative through the United Nations, which will allow students to partner with a Non-Governmental Organization (NGO) to act as their youth representative at the United Nations in New York.

Students will act as the ‘eyes and ears’ for an NGO based out of the New York-metro area. Many of these NGOs are based abroad, but would like to be represented at the UN.

The Duchesne Center and Manhattanville College have also been approved as an Official Certifying Organization for the President’s Volunteer Service Awards program in recognizing individuals and organizations volunteerism.

There are many events planned this coming semester including a lecture by Washington Post journalist Melinda Henneberger and the annual Thanksgiving Diversity Breakfast. Proposed service learning trips for the coming year are to New Orleans, Puerto Rico, Dominican Republic, and El Salvador. One of two new service opportunities starting this fall, Dream Catchers, is a program where students teach high school students with special needs through workshops in poetry, business, education, dance, and music. Also a new partnership with the Greenburgh Nature Center was established, allowing students to help with operations in animal husbandry, trail maintenance, gardening, and assisting at special events.

Supporting and Celebrating the College and Its Larger Community

Fall Semester Student Activities

There is always something happening on campus, with student organizations sponsoring events, and the Office of Campus Life holding student appreciation days throughout the semester with free Manhattanville giveaways. However the fall semester has some of the College's biggest events, including 200 Nights, Fall Fest'Ville, and the Winter Formal.

Fall Fest'Ville brings together students, staff, faculty, alumni, and parents for a fun-filled weekend. This year's Fall Fest'Ville will have special programming in honor of Manhattanville's 60th Anniversary in Westchester County.

Manhattanville Cancels Men's and Women's Tennis Programs

Manhattanville has eliminated men's and women's varsity tennis from its athletic offerings. According to Athletic Director Keith Levinthal, many factors went into the difficult decision, which was unanimously approved by the school's Athletics Advisory Board in June. A major issue was a vote by the Middle Atlantic Conferences operations committee before the start of the spring season to mandate hard courts for all conference matches. This decision would force Manhattanville to abandon its six on-campus Har-Tru courts and instead search for off-campus tennis facilities.

Manhattanville Names New Coaches for Women's Basketball, Men's Hockey and Men's Soccer

Josh Suttles has been named the new Women's Basketball head coach. Suttles comes to Manhattanville after spending last season as an assistant coach at Division I Siena College and spent two years at Division I Sacramento State University.

The Men's Ice Hockey program has promoted Arlen Marshall '10 MS '12, who has acted as the top assistant coach for the last two years, to head coach. Marshall played for the Valiants Hockey team from 2006-2010. In his last two years as an assistant coach, Marshall immersed himself completely in the day-to-day operations of the Valiant men's hockey program, helping to coordinate practices, scouting and video work while also planning travel itineraries and budgets. In addition, he recruited highly sought-after student-athletes and managed team academic affairs throughout the season.

The Men's Soccer team named a new assistant coach, Joe Dincecco. He joins the Manhattanville coaching staff after working at the professional level with the San Jose Earthquakes of Major League Soccer.

Men's Golf Named Golf Coaches Association of America Academic National Champion

The Men's Golf team was named the GCAA Division III Academic National Champion, one of the highest academic honors. The team boasted a cumulative GPA of 3.498 for the entire school year.

Introducing Alumni In the Classroom

In 2011, the Office of Alumni Relations and the Center for Career Development teamed up to host a variety of career related events for both alumni and students. Multiple alumni career panels were hosted featuring alumni from various fields of interest, including Business Management, Marketing, Communications, and Human Resources. The series provided alumni with peer-to-peer networking opportunities, as well as networking with faculty members and current students. This fall, the Alumni Relations Office will introduce a new program, “Alumni in the Classroom.” This program will allow alumni to team up with our professors to step back into the classroom and share their own personal journey and experiences as they apply to the study at hand.

60 Years in Westchester County

October 2012 marks Manhattanville’s 60th Anniversary in Purchase, New York. The College will host several events in honor of the anniversary involving staff, faculty, students, and alumni, beginning on Monday, October 22 and culminating during the annual Fall Fest’Ville, Saturday, October 26–Sunday, 28.

The corridor connecting Reid Hall to the O’Byrne Chapel will be renamed the “Manhattanville Heritage Corridor” in honor of the anniversary and will feature historical pictures of Manhattanville and its alumni through the decades. There will be a ribbon-cutting ceremony on Friday, October 26 at 11 a.m.

Social Media

Over the course of the past year, Manhattanville Social Media has grown significantly. The numbers of fans on our main platforms of Facebook and Twitter have increased by 34 percent and 40 percent, respectively.

In the past semester, we have had increased engagement through several different forms of interaction, including increased photo albums, direct interaction with influencers on Twitter, increased alumni interaction, and consistent and relevant content on both platforms. We have also started working on campaigns starting with Summer Writers’ Week and Orientation, using a second hashtag along with our #mville to create a trend on Twitter.

This summer, the Office of Communications added Official Manhattanville College pages on Google+, Pinterest, and Instagram. The Office of Communications also took ownership of the College’s FourSquare and LinkedIn profiles, adding new branding and updated information. The Manhattanville College YouTube Channel continues to thrive with 152 videos online.

Our increased presence on social media allows the College to continue to promote its key messages and mission on different platforms relevant to prospective and current students, parents, alumni, and the community at large.

Middle States Report

The College is preparing to submit a Monitoring Report to the Middle States Commission on Higher Education as a follow-up to its successful re-accreditation last spring. The report highlights the substantial progress Manhattanville has made in areas of Assessment, Governance, Finance, Enrollment Management, and Strategic Planning. Members of the College community from across the board have contributed to the development of the report, which will be submitted by September 1. Middle States will send a small team to campus for a short Site Visit September 24-25, 2012.

Entrinsik Informer

A secure web-based reporting tool that allows a user to gather information more intuitively from Datatel, making data retrieval and report writing easier. Using Informer department chairs and program administrators may create or adapt reports to include data retrieved from Datatel. User training is scheduled for late September.

LDAP (lightweight Directory Access Protocol)

The application protocol is for accessing and maintaining directory information. Colleague will become the primary driver for email accounts creation and terminations. Once an employee is hired a trigger will initiate the email/WebAdvisor creation, thus eliminating the need for manual intervention from multiple offices.

Self Service Password Reset

The Office of Information Technology has implemented the self-service password reset utility to change/reset the single password used to log in to your office computer, Colleague, Web Advisor, and email. This will help eliminate having to submit a ticket through Parature in order to have your passwords reset. Access the self-service portal at here.

NCAA Violations Resolution

In the fall of 2009, Manhattanville College was inconsistent in its financial aid packaging and failed to adequately monitor and document procedures related to the College's financial aid appeals process, particularly with respect to Men's Ice Hockey. According to findings by the NCAA Division III Committee on Infractions, this led to student-athletes receiving more financial aid awards than the general student body. Penalties in this case include two years of probation and increased oversight requirements.

Manhattanville has since implemented specific processes and procedures that ensure full compliance with NCAA rules and regulations.

Salary Increases Approved

The Board of Trustees approved a two-percent salary merit increase pool and a modest special salary adjustment pool at its June 7 meeting. These increases will be deferred until after the official Fall 2012 student enrollment numbers are finalized. The increases will be awarded retroactively to July 1, 2012.

Human Resources Workshops

Human Resources will continue to host workshops for all full-time staff and faculty in the fall on topics such as effective presentations, managing meetings, budget control, FERPA, and preventing sexual harassment in the workplace. Also planned are employee socials.
