DON'T ABDICATE THE THRONE

“Don’t Abdicate The Throne” by Dr. Lisa Brooks-Greaux, is a rallying cry for women to “take their seat at the table,” take back their power, and crash their own party. Describing her debut book as the treasure trove of advice she never received as a young woman, Dr. Brooks-Greaux walks her readers through what she believes are the steps necessary to achieve a purposeful life.

Part memoir, part how-to book, Don’t Abdicate the Throne is a practical roadmap for young women in the early stages of their careers and for any woman looking to re-enter the workforce after taking a hiatus.

WELCOME

FROM ASSOCIATE DEAN, LAURA PERSKY

Hello and happy spring semester!

I am thrilled to start the year as the Associate Dean and new head of the Manhattanville College School of Professional Studies (SPS). While we have a new name with SPS and some new titles in the department, we still have the same programs and commitment to student service. As always, our students are the most important part of SPS, so please keep in touch about how your courses and careers are progressing. We are here to support you every step of the way!

On a personal note, I want to thank all of the current students and alumni for motivating me to go back to school and earn my doctorate. Your dedication and hard work in the programs inspired me and I did it too! For those students who are almost finished, please stick with it and finish strong. For those just starting out, stay focused. Take care of your mind, body, and spirit. The time passes faster than you think and you will be very proud of yourself when you are walking across that stage to accept your diploma.

We have many students planning to graduate this spring, and we are looking forward to working with you on the final projects. Please save the date of Thursday May 16, at 6PM for graduate commencement.

Stay connected to the School of Professional Studies for networking opportunities, professional development workshops and Women's Leadership Events. I also want to remind everyone that the college's Center for Career Development (CCD) offers a variety of lifetime job search services that are available to all undergraduate and graduate students, as well alumni.

Please stop by my office in Reid Hall Castle G2 and say hello next time you are on campus. Feel free to make an appointment by contacting me at laura.persky@mville.edu. Keep in touch.

MAKING DEGREE COMPLETION CONVENIENT FOR THE ADULT STUDENT

Let's face it- adult students who are seeking a bachelor's degree are typically juggling several different balls in their busy world. Some are raising families; they're working forty hours a week or more; and they like to maintain an active social life. Somehow, in between doing all of that, they are also trying their best to earn a college degree.

For this reason, Accelerated Professional Programs for Evening Adult Learners (APPEAL) exist. The simple idea and concept behind a program like APPEAL is to make it as convenient as possible for the busy adult student to earn a BS.

While the classes themselves as well as the copious amounts of homework can be taxing and time-consuming, adult students appreciate the format and structure of the courses.

In an effort to continue to provide convenient degree completion options for the busy adult student, in January 2019, the School of Professional Studies began offering hybrid courses as part of the APPEAL program. So what exactly does this mean? Hybrid courses blend traditional college coursework and lectures with distance learning, better known as online learning.

Even those who heartily pull against the Patriots in every game, not just the Super Bowl, (and full disclosure, this would describe me) would have the utmost respect for ANY person who thought of his team more than he did himself, (I do).

Brady has made plenty of money in his NFL career —but what if he had not taken less or restructured contracts over the course of his career to help the Patriots out? Brady would be a richer man, and perhaps the highest-paid player in NFL history. There are many factors to winning a Super Bowl—the only one game championship in major American sports (all others are a series of games).

We call it “The Gisele Factor.”

A good-looking brash quarter back is nothing new to the league. Seriously, Joe Namath was the original “Bachelor,” Super Bowl MVP and “heart throb”...but those are almost a dime a dozen in the sport. What makes these Patriots tick in a way that no other NFL team has, or probably ever will again?

Six wins and three losses have been with Tom Brady at QB and Bill Belichick as head coach.

Again, WHAT is the secret sauce?

WHY EMOTIONAL INTELLIGENCE MATTERS

IN HIGHER EDUCATION

EI offers several implications to education and specifically higher education

According to the World Economic Forum's Future of Jobs Report, emotional intelligence will be one of the top 10 job skills in 2020.

Employers value the following skills and all are factors of EI. Colleges should focus on supporting and developing emotional intelligence with their students.

EMOTIONAL INTELLIGENCE STATISTIC

BY DR. TRAVIS BRADBERRY

Additionally, high EI for instructors has been shown to have a positive effect with students and increases learning. Not every student learns through the same methods, is motivated in the same manner, or acts in the same way in a classroom.

It's important to recognize differences in teaching and learning styles, as well as being able to connect with students.
