Understanding the Federal Direct Loan Programs (Direct Lending)

Applying for a student loan can be simple if you take it one step at a time, ask questions, and apply early.

Remember these important points about your Stafford Loan:

- The Federal Direct Loan Program is a low-interest loan used by many students to help finance the cost of higher education. The following information explains what you need to do in order to receive your Federal Direct Loan.
- This is a loan (not a grant) and must be repaid with interest.
- An origination fee of 1.066% will be deducted from your loan proceeds.
Example: You apply for a loan amount of $6,000. The origination fee is $63.96; the total amount of loan money you will receive is $5,936.04.
- Direct Unsubsidized Loan interest rate: 6.60% as of 7/1/2018.
- All borrowers must complete an entrance counseling session and a Master Promissory Note (MPN) for Subsidized/Unsubsidized Stafford Loan. The web address to complete both sessions is www.studentloans.gov. If you do not complete your entrance counseling and MPN, you will not receive a Stafford Loan. Submission of an e-MPN and/or entrance counseling session is not an indication of loan eligibility.

Unsubsidized Federal Stafford Loan

Graduate and professional students are not eligible to receive Direct Subsidized Loans for loan periods beginning on or after July 1, 2012.

The Unsubsidized Federal Stafford Loan is not determined by need. When the loan is unsubsidized, the student is responsible for the interest that accrues during school, grace and deferment periods. This loan provides additional funds for independent students and for dependent students whose parents are ineligible to borrow under the PLUS Loan program. Dependent students must have a PLUS Loan denied before they can apply for additional unsubsidized Stafford.
