MASTER OF SCIENCE IN SPORT BUSINESS MANAGEMENT

The sports industry is a growing and thriving business, leading even the restaurant, real estate, auto, and education sectors. Manhattanville's Sport Business Management program tackles all of the pertinent areas of sports business with an industry-driven curriculum to keep you ahead of the changing business environment. We also have an excellent track record of students obtaining top internships, and graduates landing full-time employment in the industry, or advancing in their sport business careers.

We bring our network of well-connected industry pros to serve as adjuncts, expert guest speakers from the field as well as our insider alums, to your team. Think of them all as being in your huddle.

And there is no better location to pursue your advanced sport business management studies than our convenient Westchester campus location in Purchase—a short train ride away from New York City's great sporting venues, close to sports business workplaces in Connecticut such as ESPN, and where many professionals live.

We visit nearby sports stadiums and venues—like Citi Field and YES Network—bringing in the decision makers for on- and off-campus networking.
